ALL4, LLC Expands their Environmental, Health, and Safety Footprint with the Acquisition of New England-Based Capaccio Environmental Engineering, Inc.

Boston, Mass - ALL4 LLC (ALL4), a leader in environmental, health, safety, sustainability, and digital consulting services, is excited to announce the acquisition of Capaccio Environmental Engineering, a consulting firm specializing in navigating complex environmental, health and safety (EHS) regulatory landscapes, managing compliance risks, and achieving sustainability goals to meet their clients' overall business goals.

Capaccio was established in 1992 and has been bringing EHS innovation and insight into businesses ever since. Capaccio is renowned for its deep technical expertise, strong client relationships, and environmental stewardship. Their services cover the full range of EHS industry needs and include on-site problem solving, regulatory and compliance guidance, business and sustainability strategy, engineering and design, and customized and proprietary software solutions, including their EHS-Dashboard™ which was recently shortlisted for the Environmental Analyst's Digital Innovation Award.

Lisa Wilk, Capaccio's CEO, added: "I'm delighted that Capaccio has found a new home with a company that aligns so well with the core values that have driven us for over thirty years —actively engaging with EHS initiatives that are directly integrated with business objectives, promoting success for both industry and the environment."

ALL4 is a global consulting firm that provides air quality, digital solutions, sustainability, water, waste, chemical reporting and management, and occupational health and safety services primarily to industrial clients. ALL4 is focused on these service areas with an overlay and underpinning in innovation and digital solutions. Our emphasis on staff development, technical depth, learning and development (L&D), and market approaches can be tailored to clients' EHS and sustainability responsibilities in the industrial environment so that our clients can focus their vision, resources, and time on their core businesses.

This acquisition takes place just two weeks after the addition of Spain-based Laragon Sustainability Solutions. These two acquisitions move ALL4 into the global market and enhance ALL4's digital solutions offerings - expanding and diversifying expertise, experience, and the overall value as a strategic business partner for current and future clients.

William Straub, ALL4's CEO, highlighted the continued commitment to a disciplined acquisition process, "We remain focused on finding companies who align with our core values and who provide technical excellence and thought leadership. The Capaccio team is a valuable addition to ALL4, enhancing our technical capabilities and extending our reach into new industrial sectors and end markets.”

This marks ALL4’s sixth acquisition and represents a milestone in ALL4’s vision of providing a comprehensive menu of strategic solutions to the global regulated community. The addition of Capaccio brings ALL4 to over 320 professionals serving a wide range of industries furthering our purpose of growing a sustainable community.
